Minneapolis, July 5. (AP)—Dangling at the end of a rope 2000 feet in the air for a half-hour, Miss Evelyn Barrett, 13-year-old Minneapolis girl, narrowly escaped death yesterday when the 1,01 of an airplane from which she attempted a parachute jump landed in a plowed field. copies are seized and sequestered by the prefect of police, but Impero, on this and many other occasions during the last two years, has seemed to publicize what it pleased with impunity and thereby handed a mystery which he explained later.

The next day after Impero published the attack on Malaparte, the same paper published correspondence of Il Tevere, one of the principal persons not directly connected with Impero, in which he said that he was writing on the general situation. Whereupon Tolstoi Interlandi, editor of Il Tevere, one of the principal leaders of the so-called young Fascist intellectuals, having depended on any such measure against Impero, took a few friends with him to a motor car, visited all the news stands in Rome, seized all the copies of Il Tevere, and then tore them to pieces and burned or tore them up publicly in the streets. Similar measures were planned in Florence, Bologna and other towns, but the censorship prevents knowledge of what happened.

Parties recounting what happened at Rome were summarily stopped by the censor.

Impero's editorial against Malaparte went so far as to hint that the editors possessed an "amazing signature" of the head of the Fascist party's press office which announced the appointment. This was the first attack of Malaparte or Suckert, an plain blackmail and was particularly annoying to Impero. Two of Il Popolo d'Italia's important editors, one named Rosato and the other Giovanni Capodivaca, resigned after it was reported that 300,000 lire had disappeared from the fund.

Two writers went to Avanti, the organ of the Socialists, and revealed the alleged misappropriation of funds, which they charged directly to Mussolini, who they asserted had used the money for his campaign. Thereupon Il Popolo d'Italia appealed to d'Annunzio for an investigation.

After a previous consultation d'Annunzio appointed as an investigating committee a group of prominent legionaries headed by Maj. Mario Carli, now one of the editors of Impero. This committee completely cleared Mussolini of all responsibility for the disappearance of the "pro-Fascist" funds. But the young intellectuals had undoubtedly been stopped by the intrinsic jealousies between the two groups, but also is an incident dating back as far as 1919, before Fascism ever came into being.

Why is it that in the same month of the Malaparte case to enjoy such favor with Mussolini that it can indulge in intermittent attacks against whomsoever and whatever it chooses without suffering the punishment of imprisonment? Is it not the "disciplined" journals of the Fascist regime? The answer may be in the fact that although the Premier some fifteen months ago relieved Roberto Farinacci, the original leader of La Conquista Dell' Stato and one of the leaders of the young intellectuals, as head of the Fascist Students Alpine Club, which organization had been incorporated as an important unit of the Fascist party.

PUBLISHERS ATTACK

Immediately after announcement was made the newspaper Impero, edited by Mario Carli and Emiliano Sartori, and of the castor oil method of government, published a scathing editorial denouncing Malaparte as a pro-German traitor in terminology which only that newspaper could put into print. Ordinarily it is not a step for publishers anything of that nature all

RECORD MAY BE TWO WOMEN'S

They Fly Through Storm Clouds To What They Think

London, July 5. (AP)—Two women, Lady Bailey, wife of Sir Abe Bailey, a pilot and Mrs. Geoffrey De Havilland, wife of the airplane designer, today made what they believe is a world altitude record for flight planes. They ascended 18,000 feet in a month plane from Stagelane Aerodrome near London and had to pass through a layer of thunderclouds. The altitude is subject to official ratification.

VATICAN IN ADMONITION ON SUICIDE

Epidemic of Destruction Denounced as Un-Christian by Journal of Pope

ROME, July 5. (Exclusive)—Using as the text the spectacular suicide of James White after his loss of nearly $5,000,000 on the London Stock Exchange, the Vatican, through Observers Romano today scores the epidemic of suicides which has spread with appalling rapidity throughout the civilized world.

Religious instruction in youth and the education of Christians in later days are the only cures for the epidemic of self-destruction, says the paper.

Under the title of "Shipwreck," the Vatican's press organ, Intemperie, interceded for the entire Catholic world.

The Pope is seriously alarmed and grieved by the wave of suicides which, starting in Central Europe, has spread to England and the United States. Only the broadsides of the press, which can afford to print the truth, can reach a state in which self-destruction is possible, is the Catholic paper's argument.

It was made clear informally, however, that the Washington government had based its original suggestion as to cruiser tonnage on careful plans of the subject by the committee.

First Lord Admiral said Great Britain will replace, eventually, its thirty smaller size cruisers by ships of 10,000 tons, and to be built as quickly as possible.

It was also agreed that Great Britain would undoubtedly build the maximum-size craft permitted under the treaty.

He estimated Great Britain's future needs in cruisers as about 100,000 tons, and that these would be 10,000 and forty-eight of 7500 tons, the total tonnage would be 360,000 tons.

In his informal talk with the press, Mr. Bridgeman said, "The British attitude is to make do with what we have."

White, July 5. (AP)—The New York World says it has positive proof that Charles R. Otis of Yonkers, son of the founder of the Otis Elevator Company, whose will is being contested, was legally married to a Miss Margaret Nesbit six months before he died on June 5 of age 59.

The same paper quotes a statement at St. Paul's, New York, Saturday, asking proof of the wedding, have Mr. Otis's will, which was drawn several years before the death of his first wife and leaves the bulk of a $510,000 estate to his second wife and through her to five nephews.

The World states that Miss Nesbit, 82, a second cousin of Mr. Otis, was buried under his care at the age of 22, and her widow mother faced poverty on a small Baton Rouge (La.) plantation.

Mr. Otis died May 24, according to a death certificate, in a cottage which he had rented for himself and his bride at Summerville, near Charles-

Golfers Working Hard for Championship Opening Tomorrow

MUTT DOGS WILL GET REAL SERVICE AT SHOW

Mutt dogs will get more service than most thoroughbred canines Saturday afternoon during the first annual mutt dog show, according to officials of the show yesterday.

Arrangements are made with Dr. A. Monsey, prominent veterinarian, for the establishment of a booth on the grounds where an ambulance service for the benefit of any canine who may be in need of medical attention.

Dr. Monsey has also offered free veterinary and hospital service for dogs without a certain classification in the show.

Negotiations are also underway for a whippet race to be staged for the entertainment of the crowd while the judges are busy down, and there will be several other attractions that will feature canine actors.

With only two more days remaining before the show, officials are urging the immediate filling of entries so that all congestion and confusion may be avoided at the last minute. With several hundred entries coming in by mail, it is taking the energy of the show's organizers to keep up with all the details attended to now and with the flood of entries expected tomorrow and Friday, it is certain that they will be overwhelmed for many hours prior to the show.

Dean Snyder, soft-spoken and gentlemanly press agent for the Olympic Auditorium, had one entry listed last week, but yesterday he announced that he had twelve entries.

He wants to take care of the newly arrived family of "Yuma." The youngsters are already christened with the names of all the former heavyweight boxing champions.

BAY CITY BRIDGE FIGHT TO GO ON

Delegation to Capital on Return Home

San Franciscans Undaunted by Navy Opposition

Statement Insists Selected Site Proper One

WASHINGTON, July 5. (P)—The last members of the San Francisco bridge delegation turned toward the West today, announcing their determination to carry on their battle for a bridge to serve the needs of San Francisco and Alameda counties.

William H. Harrison, San Francisco Supervisor, issued this final statement:

"So far as our attitude regarding the bridge project is concerned, we are more convinced than ever that our request should be granted. We make no demands but have had no reason given or arguments advanced which have caused us to feel that due consideration had not been given by our engineers before they made their report to every requirement of the navy, either in peace or war."

"I believe that the citizens of the bay communities will continue to insist that a bridge be built on site. We will not do this as a protest. I predict that a bridge of the Hunter's Point will be built in the not far distant future. We must be persistent in continuing our appeal and eventually, because of the justice of our request, will obtain the necessary concession from the constituted authorities to allow the bridge to be erected at a location which will adequately serve those who desire to cross the bay between the city of San Francisco and Alameda county."

WILL EXPEL FOES

Official circles in Nanking headquarters of the moderate Nationalist regime, reveal that the southerners are now planning to expel the northerners from the entire area south of the Yellow River, from the city of Kaifeng in the Province of Honan to the sea.

From Kaifeng to the west, the northerners have long retreated north of the Yellow River and Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang is now commanding the northern forces.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who presided, moved that the proposed revision be finally approved. He said if it were adopted, the assembly and the two houses of Parliament, it will be laid before two convocations for synodical sanction before being submitted for royal assent.

Meanwhile Feng's lesser campaign against the radical elements at Hankow continues. Reports from Hankow say that a number of the Russian advisers to the Hankow regime who were recently ordered to leave the city by Feng, have departed by train under his protection for Urga. Bay City Would Strain Laws to Aid Referendum

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5. (Edu)—Efforts of proponents of a State-wide reapportionment referendum met a temporary setback today when a proposal by the Board of Supervisors to contribute $2500 toward the expense of the petitions was declared illegal by acting City Attorney Holm and Auditor Boyle. Holm cited a Supreme Court decision to support this.

To meet this, considerable argument was advanced to ignore the legal decisions quoted.

"It" argued Supervisor Stanton, "this reapportionment goes to the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oakland, having 65 per cent of the total vote of the State, will be powerless and at the mercy of the 'cow counties.' All the arrangements for the important legislation enacted in 1924 was emanated from the brilliant minds of the San Francisco delegation and now it is proposed to limit us to only one State Senator."

Action was deferred a week.

NORTH CHINESE CHIEF GIVES UP

Gen. Chen's Surrender Paves Way for New Advance

Nationalists Will Occupy Yellow River Area

Four Nanking Columns in Shantung Campaign

SHANGHAI, July 5. (P)—The gradual but steady development of the campaign of the southerners against the North China government is reported in advices from the Shantung front, with the Nationalist leaders expressing belief in an easy advance on Tsin-tao and Peking.

Railway service between Tsin-tao on Kiaochow Bay and Tsinanfu, capital of the Province of Shantung, has been suspended because of the destruction of a section of track near Kaomi. Telegraphic and telephone communication also has been interrupted.

Japanese advices say that Gen. Chen, commanding the troops between Kianchow and Kaomi, a stretch of about twenty miles, went over to the Nationalists yesterday, but notified the authorities that although he was surrendering to them, he would remain in the area to protect foreign lives and property.

While he did not do this as a protest, he did give the Nationalists advice to proceed with the Shantung campaign, which without doubt is progressing steadily.

NEW ISSUE OF EDISON SOUGHT

Company Files Application With Commission

Utility Plans to Sell 5 1/2 Per Cent Preferred

Proceeds to Go for Service Improvements

Another step to obtain cheaper money with which to finance the company's development program was taken by the Southern California Edison Company yesterday when an application was filed with the California Railroad Commission for authority to issue and sell 400,000 shares of its series "C" 5 1/2 per cent preferred stock.

The proceeds of the sale, which would give the company about $10,000,000 if sold at par, $25 a share, will be used to finance service improvements and extensions, it was stated in the application.

Early in the year the Edison company announced its articles of incorporation to provide for the reclassification of its authorized capital stock, the series "C" 5 1/2 per cent preferred issue, and through the reclassification the authorized issue of 7 per cent preferred stock.

The authorized issue of 5 1/2 per cent preferred stock totals $20,000,000.

Since 1917, with the Southern California Edison Company inaugurated its customer-ownership campaign, the management of the utility has taken an ever opportunity to provide savings in the cost of power.

At the present time the company's authorized issue of 7 per cent preferred stock totals $20,000,000.

The 5 1/2 per cent class "C" preferred stock, of which $50,000,000 has been authorized, is all outstanding in the hands of the public, and the small amount remaining is expected to be absorbed within a few weeks. This particular issue has provided funds for improvements and extensions in the past.

In addition, the company has done considerable refunding of its bonded indebtedness from time to time, until at the present time a large portion of its securities is carrying low interest rates.

HUGE SLICE PAID ON PUBLIC DEBT

WASHINGTON, July 5. (AP)—One-third of the public debt, which reached its peak in August, 1919, is expected by Treasury officials to be paid off by the end of the fiscal year that began July 1. The total has been pared down steadily during intervening years and by the end of the present fiscal twelve-month period these curtailments, it is estimated, will equal one-third of the total.

Payments during the present fiscal year include retirement of more than $2,000,000,000 of Third Liberty Loan bonds next year and $1,300,000,450 of the second issue. During the seven years since the first issue was paid off at its peak, the Treasury has retired obligations which reduced it from $26,606,701,648.01 at 8 a.m. East Coast time on July 1, 1919, to $18,111,906,218.55, as of the 1st inst.

At the end of the fiscal year that began July 1, 1926, the debt of the time included $15,321,112,200 in bonds; $2,018,194,550 in Treasury notes; $702,005,500 Treasury certificates and $90,328,685 in Treasury savings certificates.

STATE SCHOOL COSTS TOTALD

SACRAMENTO, July 5. (AP)—Education in California's fifty-eight counties last year, while costing a total of $194,044,280, was made up largely of the expense of maintaining several thousand elementary and high school districts.

The total cost attached to the elementary schools was $40,456,000, while the high school total was $40,077,292. In addition there were outlays of $19,661,219 and $11,255,080 for the elementary and high schools, respectively.

Administrative expenses by the counties in this work included $404,820 for the superintendents, $73,655 for the boards of education, and libraries, $1,972,727 for county libraries and $2,048,705 for outlays and other expenses.

Local governments have a problem of state school costs, but the cost of finding out exactly what this formation is available.

The saddest are these, "I'm broke again."

It's the baseball-fans who confer the really valuable A. B. degree, the ron dade of Attie Boy, which means more salary.

The sun in hiding
Funny that thousands of Londoners should journey miles for an eclipse of the sun when they can have one at home most any day for nothing.

WINNING BLOOM
"Give Main Street a Chance" was the plogan which was a Maryland woman first prize in a national contest. But in Los Angeles we are turning it down, which is one more proof of the divergence of tastes.

No taxes
In aid of the fight to eliminate ten-ments the city of New York has extended tax exemption for twenty years to model low-priced apartment-houses. Perhaps this is in emulation of London, with its slogan
of "The slums must go."

Good advice President Coolidge, under the spell of the picturesque Black Hills, advises the correspondents to write of the rocks and not about politics. Excellent advice, unless they are tempted to lug in the kind of rock that upsets the boat.

Don't believe signs
Nearly 2000 persons died last year after imbibing denatured alcohol. If all had lived, one town a year way to call a mass meeting in a hurry would have been to erect a "wet-paint" sign so they would all rush to see if it was true.

Greates week-end
It has finally been revealed after painstaking calculations by the most reliable statistic mongers that if all the special weeks set aside for particular demonstrations during 1927 were placed end to end they would make twelve years.

Heaven on the level
A South Pasadena man was rescued
after climbing 3300 feet almost straight up to the top of the Great White Throne in Zion National Park. He is still alive, but knows by now that outside of California anything advertised as a part of heaven is just a dangerous experiment.

A nungesser fake
It seems that the report from Chicago of the finding of Nungesser near that town was made by an employee of a timber company "just to relieve the monotony," as he explained it. One wonders if by this time he hasn't been relieved of his job.

A fishy tale
D'Annunzio, who avishly has no need whatever of a press agent, says he likes to lie in the bathtub while goldfish swim around him, inspiring him to beautiful thoughts. Now we know where some of those whopping big fish stories originate.

New students drink
According to a recent survey made by the Anti-Saloon League, fewer than 6 per cent of this year's college and high-school graduates drink, and less than one-half of 1 per cent drink to excess. So another argument against prohibition fails to connect with the facts.

On the wave of prosperity
July dividends to be distributed by 700 American corporations will total more than half a billion dollars. Even if you own none of the dividend-paying stocks you win, because when that half-billion goes into circulation some of it will find its way to you if you are engaged in business or in industry.

We can't help it
Italy's Duke advises even more vigorous living than the great "T.R." who was the famous exponent of the "structural life." Sento says "Live dangerously."
In view of the fact that the 1927 sales of motor cars in the United States did fair to exceed the 1926 record by more than half a million, we don't see any way to reject the dictator's suggestion.

Showed horse sense
Lightning, a horse of exemplary habits and obliging disposition, was made to dive forty feet into the ocean at Venice, after which he was requested to swim back to shore. Instead he started to swim to Hawaii and drowned before he could be dragged back. It's too bad for an equine friend to die in that manner, but no one will blame him for starting for Hawaii after being treated that way in California.

THE SPENDERS
A California rapidly is gaining the doubtful distinction of being one of the most extravagant of the commonwealths in point of State expenditures. We are not at all backward in laying out tax funds, as witness the tremendous budget of $185,925,246 for the coming biennium.

This is not all. If no referendum is filed against the gasoline tax increase, there will follow an estimated additional charge against the people of $13,000,000, which will bring the total to $214,929,000, to contrast with the $150,000,000 budget for the last Richardson biennium.

When the budget first was announced, early in the year, Gov. Young estimated it at $125,000,000. The fact that it was an increase of $13,000,000 over the previous budget and the greatest in the history of the State was cleverly concealed by pointing out that the advance represented but a little more than 7 per cent over the previous biennium. But with a budget of $124,000,000 it grows to nearly 19 per cent.

Special appropriations of $2,154,781 were adopted by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. As he controlled that Legislature, body and breeches, he cannot evade responsibility for these items.

The alarming part of the situation is that the estimated income for the period is $6,000,000 below the expenditures; that the administration is spending $8,000,000 more than it can collect.

However, California is not yet bankrupt. There was a surplus of $20,000,000 in the State coffers at the beginning of the fiscal year, piled up during the four years of the Richardson administration, and the $6,000,000 will come from that surplus. What will happen when the $20,000,000 is all spent is another question.

The annual report of State Treasurer Marion, showing the treasury balance to be $7,000,000 in excess of last year, with accretions to the major funds, indicates a past healthy condition in State finances, but it should be remembered that until the 1st inst. California has been operating upon the budget of the last administration.

Now begins the expenditures of the Young tribe. As a start, salaries were increased by $3,250,000. Jobs, boards and commissions were created galore, with the easy hand of prodigality.

After the system is well begun the reckoning day will come. Years from now, when the machine of the northern politicians is on the junk heap, California will be struggling to make up for its waste.

Byrd finds his problem
While everyone rejoices that Commander Byrd and his companions escaped worse consequences, expressions of sympathy and apparent efforts to alibi the commander on his failure to land at Paris appear to be beside the point. Commander Byrd announced the objective of the flight as not primarily a Paris landing, for that had been achieved by Col. Lindbergh, alone, quite as brilliantly as possible, but rather to study difficulties, the solution of which will make transocean flights dependable, and it must be agreed that the elements rose splendidly to the occasion, confronting him with his problem. That he extricated himself from an impossible situation without loss of life is all to his credit, deserving of the highest encomium, and certainly greater benefits to aviation will result than if he had flown to Paris through clear skies and landed without scars.

Consider the luckless John R. Haynes, who, despite his weight of dignity as an austere Water and Power Commissioner of the city of Los Angeles, is known to rude fellow of the bazaar sort as Doc Haynes.
After years of earnest effort to persuade the voting public to mount and ride with him in his favorite hobby of municipal ownership, the crude and common taxpayers not only scorched his lures with ridicule and contempt and spilled their self-appointed benefactor out of the saddle in a cloud of dust and baubles, but they have the community crust to expect Dr. Haynes to refund to them out of his own pocket the money he took from the public treasury to pay for the riding lessons. And the worst of it is that the Superior Court and the Supreme Court, to the latter of which Dr. Haynes and his colleagues in the political power business went for support, both agree with the taxpayers about it and say the money must be paid. The Supreme Court has just reaffirmed its views by denying a rehearing of the case.

That he was unable to locate his termininus in a strange country without compass or stars to guide him through rain and fog and inky blackness needs no excusing.
Col. Lindbergh himself ran into a similar predicament on one of his flights with mail from St. Louis to Chicago, and though over familiar territory was unable because of fog to locate his landing field, and after his gasoline had been exhausted risked his life in a parachute jump, permitting his plane to crash.

The Byrd experience, added to that of Clarence Chamberlin and many other less notable occasions, indicates that the auxiliaries to successful distance flying have not been developed space with motors and planes, and it would appear that the next essential is the perfecting of compasses, radio guidance, turn indicators, means of preventing ice formation on the wings and landing beacons that will operate independently of weather conditions. With these perfected it has been reasonably well demonstrated that multimotored planes can be depended upon to cross the seas with some adherence to schedule. It is indicated that Dr. Haynes' pet scheme for a stirring, public-owned power monopoly in Los Angeles. It is the principle of the thing that gravels the doctor—that and perhaps the suspicion that, as the only one of the defendants with large means, he may be listed as victim-in-chief as, in happier days before the Butler decision, he was politician-in-chief.

He sought solace of the Chamber of Commerce, notwithstanding that he had previously incurred his ponderous displeasure by refusing to endorse his public ownership propositions on the June ballot.
The chamber's directors listened solemnly, agreed it was a shame and something ought to be done about it. So they appointed a committee to "Investigate and report"— which there is no more effective means of achieving the sum of nothing at all.

It is actually beginning to look as though
Dr. Haynes might have to pay the money—unless some philanthropist will pass the hat.

Foreign investments
Canada's tribute to a dead American, Lieut. J. Thaddeus Johnson, member of the Lindbergh plane escort on his flight to Ottawa, who was killed just as the flight ended, must touch the hearts of Americans with deep and lasting gratitude. The Union Jack flew at half-mast from the Parliament Buildings for the first time for other than a member of Parliament or the government. The services equalled in impressiveness the ceremonies in honor of the beloved former Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier.
Canada's most distinguished men paid respects to the dead aviator and the country from which he flew to participate in their diamond jubilee.

The services were characterized not so much by pomp and splendor as sincerity.
Canada was deeply grieved and that grief was evident as the celebration proceeded.

It is another and notable instance of the splendid good will that exists between the two nations, that has so long existed, and which, let it be hoped, may ever continue.

There is no other instance in the history of the world where two nations have dwelt side by side in such cordial relationship, and now that direct diplomatic intercourse has been established let it be that sort of intercourse that should exist between good neighbors.

calls a crimeless crime film. Nearly equivalent to a pictureless picture play.

The story of the growth of the United States from the position of a debtor nation in 1913 to that of a creditor nation with the huge balance of about $18,000,000,000
at the close of 1926 is one of impressive significance. The balance quoted does not include the billions loaned foreign governments by the government of the United States, but represents the savings of the people of this country invested in foreign industrial concerns. To show the rapid increase in the amount required it may be pointed out that in 1923 the total asked for that year was $43,839,764. Two years later the total amount asked was $23,206, 018,650. It declined somewhat in 1926, but is reported active this year.

Where are these investments being made and for what purpose are they required?

Principally in South America, Europe and Japan and for a great many industrial purposes. American dollars are financing Chi-

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

The Modern Way

PASADENA, June 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The most significant feature of the opening of the two retail stores in Los Angeles, of what used to be a mail-order house exclusively, has been entirely overlooked in the various newspaper accounts of this event.

The automobile and newspaper advertising combined have sounded the knell of partition duty for the mail-order business as a dominant feature of American mercantile life. For many years the annual catalogue of the big mail houses was carefully studied in the great mass of rural homes and much of the family marketing was done by mail.

But that has become too slow. Now the family scans the daily paper for the family needs and the family dinner takes the whole outfit to the store, provided parking space is available, and the goods are sold then and there.

There are hundreds, yes thousands, of small merchants in the outlying districts of Los Angeles who can make their fortunes instead of a precarious living if they will adapt themselves to the new.

In the advertising columns of The Times they can have a show window in which to display their wares, not only to the comparatively few who pass their doors, but to the hundreds of thousands of intelligent readers who have the money with which to buy the autos which will quickly carry them to any place where they can find what they want, at prices they can afford to pay.

Thus The Times is really an equalizer of rents and opportunity. Its columns give the merchants on Vermont Street or Olympic Avenue or Sunset Boulevard a chance to show their goods and prices to the same people that patronize the important downtown stores.

By bringing the buyer and seller together The Times is really the great market place of Southern California.

It is up to the so-called "small" business to decide if he wants to stay "small" always. He can, if he wishes, share in the big business of the city. He can do it by dressing in an attractive "window" in The Times.

I am only one of the thousands of consumers in the Los Angeles metropolitan district, only to tell you I am ready to patronize any merchant anywhere in twenty miles of my home if they will only tell me how I can buy to advantage any of the thousand and one items that my family needs, today and every day.

ARTHUR MERTON.
Communist in China

LOS ANGELES, June 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I note that Mr. T. K. Kee of the Y.M.C.A. in Shanghai, China, has just been in Los Angeles and vicinity, addressing audiences on the situation in China. In the first announcement of his coming, which appeared in your paper, he was styled "one of the leading opponents of Communism in China," and I note that in his address as reported in the press he belittled the influence of Communism in China, claimed that their numbers were limited to a few hundred, or at most a few thousand, etc.

I wish he had an opportunity to tell me what he means. In the first place, why he tells a different story here from that he tells in China. Shortly before I left China a few months ago, in an address before the Missionary Association in Shanghai, Mr. Kee frankly admitted the Nationalist party, to which he belongs, is in league with the Russian soviets.

As to Mr. Kee's low estimate of the power of Communism in China I would only say that, with his headquarters in Shanghai, he does not know as much about the workings of this persistent, powerful propaganda in the great interior of China as do some of us who are from the interior, and know it at first hand, as well as having suffered through it.

Most gullible are spared the pains of working the wealth of their own country, but some not so fortunate there are some notable exceptions to this rule. It is discouraging to study this situation: it must almost make many an artist wish he had taken up some other line of work.

VOICES OF THE LAKE
As moon and starlight glow and dim
With new-born hours and hours that die,
The winds with ever-changing whine
Close in the lakeside-grasses lie;
Vesturing, aby forth at times,
Wet ripples break upon the shore,
To murmur little tuneful rhymes
That touch upon forgotten lore.

A theme of leaves that earthward fall
In showers of color long ago,
Touched by some strange and mystic spell,
In caverns of eternal snow;
And there are syllables that none
Of mortal birth would dare to name,
Such as the music of the sun.

THE SHAPE OF A BOOK
How pleasant it is to reflect that all these lovers of books have themselves become books. What better metamorphosis could Pythagoras have in store for his soul? How could he be more excited in anticipating theirs? And how the world has justified their estimation! They had a right to triumph over brass and marble. It is the only visible change which changes the world, which generates and yet is not destroyed.

This little body of thought that lies before me in the shape of a book has existed thousands of years, nor since the invention of the press can anything short of a universal conflagration burn it up. Its shape like this, so small, yet so lasting, so insignificant yet so venerable, turns the mighty activity of Homer and the world's turning to ashes to live again.

The scheme of the world, the grandeur of the same, in a public address, land Lein and hold him up as a good example for Christians. Mr. Kee, in addition to being a secretary of the Y.M.C.A., is a member of the same so-called National Christian Council.

SUSPECT IN THEFT HELD IN HAWAII

Maj. McRae Indicted in Raid on Liquor Warehouse Here in December, 1925

Indicted by the Federal grand jury here on a charge of implication in the sensational robbery of the government liquor warehouse in Los Angeles on December 10, 1925, Maj. Donald M. McRae, former employee of the Southern California prohibition enforcement department, was held in Honolulu yesterday, according to a cable received yesterday by G. H. Hamer, chief of the government special intelligence unit.

Maj. McRae, according to government sources, was described "informer" for the gang that robbed the liquor warehouse, supplying the floor plan for the building and giving the location of the safe.

According to information received from Honolulu, McRae posted bond with the United States Commissioner here.

The arrest of Maj. McRae is the seventh to be made in connection with the warehouse robbery. Those previously arrested are Orval James, J. E. Vaish, Sid Worrall, W. H. Worrall, Bruce Butler and James Lloyd.

'Dealing' Given New Meaning in Alimony Trial

Judge Brown admitted he was broadminded enough to conceive that "dealing" and "waiting on the trade" might mean exactly the same thing, so that thus probably there really was no argument as to just what was Albert Steiner's occupation.

Mrs. Marcelle Steiner, who wanted Judge Brown to increase her alimony because she said she had to live on the $100 a month previously awarded her, based her application on an allegation that Steiner earned lots of money "dealing" in a gambling club. Attorney Willard C. Gandy, Steiner's lawyer, had subpoenaed several of the club men to testify as to Steiner's earnings.

The manager of the club showed up to express his pain at the suggestion that his club was tainted with gambling, and to explain that Steiner had formerly earned about $15 an evening by "waiting on customers."

"One is not waiting on customers if you like," Judge Brown remarked.

"If you think that merely an euphemism, call it 'dealing.' Anyway, I suspect this 'gentleman' is doing more alimony than he justifies, more alimony, is doing so by methods the court cannot command. So, rather than appear to encourage him in a trade that we can't approve, we will not increase the alimony, but we will insist that he be honest, and support his wife and child on what he has thus earn."

"Euphemism" sufficed to hold everyone present, so there was no need to go into the legalities.

Mrs. Steiner is plaintiff in a pending divorce action, wherein she charges cruelty by her husband.

While it is Judge Brown's decision to divorce cases, he is going to do anything to stimulate business. He made that decision when he declined to accept the application for an order for the support of her two children.

Can you do more for your teeth

than keep them

CLEAN?

What is the utmost you think can be done to make your teeth healthy, beautiful, bright? If you ask your dentist this question, his answer will surely be, "Keep them completely clean!"

Designed only to clean, Colgate's cleans as evidently as you quickly taste, feel, see the healthy cleanliness it brings.

Why Colgate's cleans better

The moment Colgate's is brushed on your teeth, two things happen:

1. It expands into a sparkling foam. In this foam is calcium carbonate to scrub off all bits of food, and polish each tooth to dazzling cleanliness.

2. Then, in a detergent-washing wave, this foam sweeps through the entire mouth, washing away impurities, leaving teeth and mouth clean.

If you think you need more than cleanliness, if you fear disease of teeth or gums, better go straight to a dentist for treatment. Rely on a dentist to cure. Rely on Colgate's to clean your teeth.

BURGLARS ROB CHURCH VAULT

Also Enter Christian Science Reading Rooms

Large Plunder Obtained at Newberry Store

Theater and Oil Company Safes Foil Egg

Burglars who broke into places of business, a church and a Christian Science reading room Monday night met with varying degrees of success. My far the largest haul was obtained from the J. H. Newberry Company, 445 South Broadway, where a pried-open safe yielded money bags containing $7000, according to F. S. Racco, manager of the store.

Luck was not with the robbers who entered the Nine-String Theatre, 115 North Main Street, through a rear entrance. In their search for the safe, which was said to have contained about $8000, but did not consider damage, but failed to find the strong box. Equal lack of success was experienced by those who broke into the offices of the Valvoline Oil Company, 124 Center Street. Here the safe was easily located but opening it proved too difficult a task.

Entering the Egyptian Church at 115 South Main Street, a hatchet-wielding burglar pried a safe wide open and escaped with $10, according to Rev. C. E. Malins, pastor. George S. Gillett, in charge of the Christian Science reading room at 4107 South Broadway, reported to police that the safe in the rooms had been blown open and $200 in cash and several checks stolen.

NEW HOTEL WILL RISE AT SPRINGS

Vista Val Monte Project Will be Modern Building Costing $745,000

Tourist travel to Southern California is the motive behind many hotel projects, the latest being Vista Val Monte, to be erected at Palm Springs at a cost of $745,000 and to be one of the most modern institutions of its kind, according to an announcement made yesterday.

The Palm Springs Hotel Company is being formed by a holding company of Presidents T. Stevens, Dr. J. K. Koeck, Warren B. Finney, Elton Munsell, Clyde Burr, P. A. Eisen, R. Walker, Palm Springs Realty Company, Western Gas & Electric Company, Western Telephone Company, G. K. Kipper.

It will be leased by a corporation headed by H. E. Edmunds and E. P. Severol, who recently disposed of hotel holdings in Toledo and are now preparing to move to the Lankershim and St. Regis of Los Angeles.

Mediterranean architecture will be followed in the plant, upon which actual construction will start the 15th inst. The Cramton Construction Company, Los Angeles, having been awarded the building contract, under the supervision of Walker & Eisen, also of this city, architects and engineers.

The hotel will be of 175-room capacity, each room having private bath. The dining room will serve at a single seating 500 persons, while there will be a number of suites for the accommodation of the most discriminating.

Residential features will be given special attention, a swimming pool, tennis courts and a nine-hole golf course being provided for the benefit of patrons. A modern garage will be operated as an adjunct to the hotel.

HITCHCOCK DISPUTES STEWART

Actor Lays Theater Row With Equity to Lack of Salaries Guarantees

Raymond Hitchcock, actor, takes issue with W. G. Stewart, impresario of the Vine Street Theatre, relative to the difficulties between that theater and the Actors' Equity Association, and Frank Gillmore, secretary of Equity, takes issue with Louis O. MacLean, the Music Box relative to his differences with the same organization.

According to an affidavit, Mr. Hitchcock is shocked at the statements made by Mr. Stewart, and declares that he never intended to stay in Los Angeles, and that he made no "death threat." He intimates that the foundation for the difficulties between Stewart and the actors' union revolves around the unwillingness to give the actors a guarantee of two weeks' salaries and that therefore "it was impossible for the reputable and established members of the Actors' Equity Association to appear in Los Angeles."

In another statement Mr. Gillmore takes issue with Mr. MacLean about the procedure to be followed in extracting music from a referee, and that the two men are in agreement that Mr. MacLean deserved to close the "Peggy Ann" show because, in the parlance of the theater, it was a "flop," and made the illness of an actor an opportunity to do so.

Doctor Here Treats Boy at Sea by Radio

A world record for long-distance medical treatment is believed to have been established by Police Surgeon Sebastian last night.

Dr. Sebastian, from his office at the Receiving Hospital, flashed a prescription for an 8-year-old boy seriously ill aboard the steamship Nora, 1600 miles out at sea on the Pacific, in response to a call for help from the ship to the Radio Corporation of America. The radio company relayed the call to Dr. Sebastian, who diagnosed the boy's case as of intestinal trouble and caused his treatment back to the ship by radio.

VILLAIN TIRED OF CUSSEDNESS

Ernest Torrence Signs for Featured Role With Buster Keaton; Warners Add to Scenario Staff; Polly Moran in "Buttons"

BY MARQUIS BURBY

About the most startling news that drifted in from Hollywood yesterday was the announcement from the Buster Keaton studio that Ernest Torrence had been engaged to appear with the frozen-faced star in "Steamboat Bill."

Signing of Torrence is a radical departure for both the studio and the actor usually identified with villainous portrayals. It is the first time that Torrence has ever invaded the drama field for a supporting lead and the first time that Torrence has ever portrayed a straight comedy with a vast difference in the screen villainies in which I have indulged."

Strangely enough, although Torrence was a stage comedian, he made his screen debut in "The Covered Wagon." Recently he returned to vaudeville as "Captain Salvation" and "Twelve Miles to Heaven."

Camers are to start on "Steamboat Bill" within a short time, I learned from Harry Brand, general manager of the Keaton unit of the studio.

Keaton and his staff, including Charles "Chuck" Keeler, director; Carl Hartache, scenario chief; Fred Gabourie, technical director, and George M. Koenig, cameraman, returned from a cruise along the Sacramento River and Lake Tahoe where they worked on the story and hunted lo-cations.

Plans for the feature call for the building of a complete town along the banks of the Sacramento River and the chartering or building of steamships and other craft.

All Clicking Away

There are no spare typewriters at Warner Brothers. In addition to their present scenario staff, Daryl Zanuck, associate executive, has just signed four new writers to contracts. The lucky four are Robert Lord, Ed Lowe, Jr.; Peter Milne and Norman MacLeod.

Lord is best known for his musical comedy work, and for the screen stories of "The Johnstown Flood," "The City," "Salome of the Temptations," and others. Ed Lowe, Jr. received his first start at Warners yesterday.

Peter Milne wrote the adaptations for "White Fangs Willies" and "All Aboard" for Johnny Hines. Norman MacLeod was man on a number of recent Paramount productions. He will be a suitable man for "Broadway Kid," temporary title of George Stevens' picture which Byron Haskin will direct. Ed Lowe will adapt "Ball or Islay Murphy," also with Jessie.

Fun on the High Seas

There's no keeping a good comedienne down. After scoring an emphatic hit as the redoubtable Mrs. Murphy in "The Thin Man" and "The Thin Murphy," Polly Moran has been added to the role of "Buttons."

Jackie Coogan, the child star of "Goldwyn" — Mayre starring vehicle, Polly plays a chambermaid on the ocean liner.

While Jackie is a hellboy, and she and Jackie have a series of comedy scenes.

It would be a pretty seashell passenger who couldn't negotiate a smile at Polly's antics.

Coy Watson, juvenile character actor, in another recent addition to the "Buttons" cast, Lamont Young and Gertrude Olmstead play the lovers in the picture.

Colony Wins New Rehearsal

The latest Colony rehearsal to join the Hollywood colony is Ivan Lebedeff, who has just arrived to fulfil a long-term contract with C. B. De Mille. He will make his debut in "The Angel of Broadway," which is to be directed by Luis Weber.

Returning to Lebedeff, I wonder if he will change his name in America after a while. He came to New York under contract to D. W. Griffith. In his opinion, he is a good boy, and he is actual star between the combined American and German battle squadrons and the German Grand Fleet.

STATE GIVES PERMISSION FOR VIADUCT

First-street Improvement to Cost More Than $1,500,000 Now Assured

The last serious obstacle to the construction of the First-street viaduct was removed yesterday when the State Railroad Commission granted the city permission for construction. The project will cost between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

The main obstacle to be derived from the construction of the viaduct is the elimination of dangerous grade crossings. Co-operating in the project are the city and county, the Los Angeles and San Joaquin Railroads, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, and the Los Angeles Railway Corporation.

The new proposed viaduct will be of the same modern concrete arch construction that is used on the Ninth-street and Seminole-street viaducts. It will replace the worn-out First-street bridge built in 1889. Including approaches, the new viaduct will be 1,200 feet in length, extending from Vignes street on the west to Mission Road on the east side of the river.

The new bridge will provide for a seventy-foot over-all, a fifty-six-foot roadway and five two-foot sidewalks. Two 125-foot arch spans across the river will be provided to allow for a truck and automobile crossing.

At First-street and Santa Fe Avenue, west of the river, a separation of grades will be made. Provision also is made for future traffic on Mission Road east of the river, connecting the south and northbound traffic on Mission Road from the "radiant" traffic. Ornamental plantings will be placed in the plantings along the entire length of the viaduct, including the approaches.

When construction work is begun First-street traffic will be diverted to the new bridge. All other traffic on street bridges, officials said yesterday.

The street cars now operating across the old bridge probably will be diverted to the new MacArthur bridge.

It has been agreed that the proposed viaduct is an important link in the major traffic route across the city connecting the easterly section with the west coast beaches and the State highways to the north.

SANTA ANA JAIL ROW TO GRAND JURY

District Attorney States Decision After Quizzing Former Inmates

Upon return from San Quentin and Folsom prisons, where he interviewed nine inmates, he said many of the inmates include many of the same deportments which the Governor once had in his executive council to advise him. Responsibility for these functions can now be said to be with the Governor.

He is continuing his investigation of important cases and is determined to do this with the reduction of strain.

He is moving toward efficient and effective criminal justice, which it is intended the Governor will direct him to do.

The program is fully organized.

He is satisfied with the work of the State Department of Education.

With the exception of the accomplished handling of education, he said, the State Board of Education is not up to the standards of the Governor.

"Trotter may play too much in the qualifications of the personnel of the appointed body, but he has no record of any method of that being in the public interest," he said.

BANDITS ROB HOLLYWOOD SHOE STORE

Five Clerks Trussed and Gagged in Daring Daylight Rush-Hour Hold-up

In a spectacular daylight hold-up two well-dressed bandits late yesterday afternoon raided Young's Shoe Store at 6672 Hollywood Boulevard, trussed up and gagged five clerks and escaped with $300 in cash.

The robbery occurred as the store was about to close for the day, with scores of persons passing in front.

The bandits entered the store, presumably to buy shoes. They continued to try on footgear until the last customer left and when all was covered, the bandits closed the store.

The clerks were herded toward the rear and their valuables taken from them. Then they were forced to lie on the floor while the bandits and their leader, who was driving, was found to have been stolen.

The bandits took an additional $150 from the store cash box and departed. A few minutes later W. R. Jacques, one of the clerks, succeeded in freeing himself and summoned police. Detective L. L. Johnson and Taylor are investigating.

CONTRACT FOR LARGE HOTEL LET

Height-Limit Structure With 216 Rooms to Rise at Sixth and Loomis Streets

The announcement of a new thirteen-story hotel structure to be constructed at Sixth and Loomis streets was made yesterday with the awarding of the building contract to Arthur Bard &amp; Co. This limit-height structure is being financed by George J. Hartman &amp; Co., who have appraised the site and building at $775,000.

The new hotel, which will be the Embassy, will contain 216 rooms, with private baths to floor. Radio outlets to each room and steam vacuum heating system will be features of the building.

The hotel is being erected for and will be managed by the Embassy Holding Corporation, of which George Marcell is president.

CLOSE TO BEING A SHOCKING AFFAIR

But Parachute Jumper's Luck Saves Him From Death

Jimmy Young in Wires and (Inset) Jimmy

UNDAUNTED by his most recent experience in which his life hung in the balance fifteen minutes as rescuers attempted to extract him and his parachute from a network of power wires carrying 30,000 volts at the Ventura air meet Sunday, Jimmy Young, Los Angeles 16-year-old parachute-jumper, returned home yesterday, eager for rope forced two of the high-voltage wires together, blowing out the fuse in the powerhouse.

Young was participating in the first power-line-jumping competition before 500 spectators when he miscalculated the windage in his parachute and landed on the network of wires. Lieut. Paul Richter of Los Angeles piloted the plane from which Young leaped.

MACKAYE TRIAL HAS COURT ECHO

Helen Wilkinson Fined on Old Speeding Charge When Officer Remembers Her

Helen Wilkinson, whose close friendship for Dorothy Mackaye, former stage actress under sentence to San Quentin for covering up facts of a riddle—the death of her son—had been forgotten by Ray Raymond, yesterday learned that her place in the society world was worth at least $20 to law and order.

Her knowledge became cause a traffic warrant was issued and she remembered an unsevered traffic warrant for one Helen Wilkinson who was convicted of robbing an office of the Automobile Association of Southern California in the County Jail.

It was recalled that she was released to tell officers her address or furnish the name of the man she was driving before she was arrested by the police.
